

What the FCC is doing by liberalizing media ownership is an injustice to the American people. The FCC is not promoting competition but rather replacing it with a system of regulations that caters to large media monopolies.